Argue Question Of Provincial Rights To Water Powers

Ottawa.—Dominion and provincial rights to water powers will be argued in the supreme court of Canada next week. Recognized as one of the most important questions facing the country, the matter has come before the courts in years of the matter undoubtedly will be carried to the Privy Council in England for final adjudication.

Development of the potential water powers of the St. Lawrence, international and interprovincial in character, development of water power on the Ottawa river and a number of other power projects, all these are vitally concerned in the points to be decided, respecting Federal and provincial jurisdiction. The case probably will extend over two weeks.

The Dominion government and at least five of the provinces, Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, will be represented.

Ontario and Quebec, through counsel, will take the leading part in support of British Columbia, Manitoba and Saskatchewan probably will be heard in argument in answer to the claim of the Dominion.

These provinces, hardly speaking, will contend that the water powers were vested in the provinces before confederation and were not transferred to the Dominion. Ontario is the British North America Act. A further argument would put forward on behalf of the provinces that the Dominion has no right to these water powers and that any treaty respecting an international water power must subordinate to the British North America Act.

Saskatchewan has its own legal representative at Ottawa who has already received instructions to appear at the Supreme Court hearing and watch Saskatchewan's interests.

Withdrawing From League Of Nations
Argentine Parliament in Discontent
The Argentine parliament has decided to discontinue appropriations to meet league dues.

The news caused surprise and consternation in league circles. It was pointed out that the Argentine action is tantamount to withdrawal as no nation may remain a member of the league unless the financial obligations are met. Under the rules of the league any member nation that contemplates withdrawal must pay dues for two years as notification of withdrawal is given.

Will Analyze Frosted Wheat

Scientists At University of Saskatchewan Have Started Work

Saskatoon, Sask.—Now that four Canadian scientific laboratories are chafing at the University of Saskatchewan, have determined that milling and baking qualities are not assessed by touchstones or dampening of grain, scientists here, in collaboration with the investigations carried on elsewhere in Canada, are turning their attention chiefly to treated wheat.

With painstaking effort as to detail, the Saskatchewan University laboratory, under general supervision of Dr. T. Thorvaldsen, professor of chemistry, and direct supervision of Dr. R. K. Larimer, has begun work with the object of determining the actual damage done by frost to the milling and baking quality of wheat.

Dr. Elmer McDonald, shown above, who believes that he can forestall disaster by treating the subject through the administration of thyroid gland extract and other means. Dr. McDonald is director of cancer research at the University of Pennsylvania and the Philadelphia General Hospital. Dr. McDonald is a Canadian who had his early education at Winnipeg and finished it in Toronto. He has three brothers, Brig-Gen. H. F. McDonald, C.M.G., D.S.O., of Winnipeg; Dr. H. FEDERAL AID FOR HIGHWAYS SHOULD CONTINUE

Regina.—That federal aid for highways should be continued with additional aid to the various provinces was the view of the delegates attending the 10th annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association which dealt with many other matters of interest during the session. Elimination of level crossings, building of bridges and roads, the financial responsibility of urban municipalities in road development, gasoline taxes and winter roads all had their place on the agenda.

Hon. O. L. McPherson, minister of public works for Alberta, was unanimously chosen president of the association and other officers were elected. Seven invitations were presented for next year's meeting place and while no decision was arrived at Prince Edward Island would seem to be in favor with the delegates.

When the subject of Federal aid for highways was under review the discussions arising from this topic were crystallized in the following resolutions:

"Resolved, that in view of the very marked and acknowledged benefit which comes to Canada as a whole because of the large investments being made in the highway construction and maintenance by the federal, municipal and provincial bodies, such benefit being of a far reaching nature and affecting many branches of Dominion government service; and whereas the Federal government has collected in excess of $200,000,000 during the past two years which can be directly or indirectly traced to highways; and in view of the fact that the Federal government recognized its interest in highways by a first grant of $200,000,000, which has been expended; and in view of the increase in highway travel throughout Canada, this association, in annual convention assembled, reaffirm its oft-stated belief in Federal aid for highways and this additional recommendation should be granted at the earliest possible moment to the various provinces and the executive committee is hereby instructed to make every reasonable effort to have this resolution made effective."

Percy Williams Will Take Freshman's Course In Vancouver
Vancouver.—Percy Williams, Olympic 100 and 200 metre champion, will attend the University of British Columbia here for one year. After that he will take the business administration course at the University of Washington. This was decided at a meeting of members of the committee in charge of Williams' affairs, which Williams attended.

Williams spent two days in Seattle and returned home in order to discuss all angles of his situation with his friends here. He had been invited to attend the Washington institution.

It is remaining in Vancouver for the year because he feels that it would be unfair to those who welcomed him so generously and who have been so good to him to leave, a member of the committee said.

Forty Killed By Explosion
Powder Magazine In Old Spanish Fort Caused Accident
Melilla, Morocco.—By an explosion of the powder magazine of the ancient Spanish fort of Calvaritas Bajas forty persons were killed and 200 injured, some of them probably fatally.

The explosion destroyed the citadel, on a rocky hill overlooking the town. All houses around the citadel were destroyed.

Women and children were among the dead and injured. Nine soldiers of the Spanish garrison at the fort were killed. The government appropriated 25,000 pesetas ($41,250) for relief of the families of victims.

CAMPAIGN IS ON FOR ELECTIONS IN GREAT BRITAIN
Yarmouth, Eng.—The first open move in a nation-wide campaign for the forthcoming British general election, when Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and his government appeal to the British voters for another five-year mandate, will be made here when 2,600 Conservative delegates, at a record gathering of its kind, go into conference to hammer out a party platform.

Within a month from now Conservatives, Liberals and Labor, by means of their annual conferences for the purpose of determining the issues upon which they will wage the biggest party struggle in this country since the Great War.

The British "issue" fight is expected on tariff questions, the extension of protective measures by means of "safeguarding" industries by special import duties.

British political strategists are getting ready to adopt new means and methods of appealing to the public.

Close watch is kept on the rapid development of wireless and talking machines. "Talkies" are being made of Baldwin and other political leaders; motor cars and trucks with the latest broadcasting apparatus made ready for swift campaigns through the country districts. The hunt for party songs is on, and again the Conservatives are in the lead with song sheets already issued.

One witty allusion to the "flapper" vote, that uncertain bloc of five million newly-emancipated young women for whom all parties are angling, all claiming flapper support, and none the certain of it.

Angle-French Naval Pact

United States Government, Rejects Agreement in Note Sent to Both Powers

Washington, Sept. 26.—An unqualified rejection of the so-called secret Anglo-French naval accord as a basis for renewed discussions on naval armament limitations is understood to be contained in the United States note to Great Britain and France which were forwarded to Paris and London.

A separate note for each government was sent the American embassies for transmittal to the foreign offices.

It had been expected one note would be sent to both governments. Although it was learned the notes are not identical in form they are understood to be similar to each other in their essential facts.

It is understood both notes comprise a lengthy discussion of the American stand on naval disarmament with respect to cruisers and submarines. This subject has been the centre of disagreement between the United States and Great Britain and is held to have caused the failure of the 1927 Geneva conference.

As indicated at the White House it is expected the notes will reiterate the United States stand on naval disarmament as outlined at the 1927 Geneva conference.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
OCTOBER 7
PAUL IN EPHESUS
Golden Text: "We are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God afore prepared that we should walk in them."—Ephesians 2:10.

Lesson: Acts 19:1-4; Ephesians 14-21.

Explanations And Comments
The Forfeited Chance, Acts 18:9, 10. The Apostle Paul, in the lecture-room of Tyrannus, was being made aware of the things concerning the Kingdom—the subject of Jesus teaching. But instead of heeding his message, the Jews hardened their hearts, and some of them even spoke evil of the "Way" (used as a synonym for Christianity; read Acts 8:7).

Paul was obliged to break for the Jews, leaving the synagogue and passing through the city of Tyrannus, where many of them followed him. Tyrannus probably had a school of philosophy. Paul may have been the philosopher in the midst of the wandering professors of philosophy who were so numerous in the early days of the church.

The Apostle, in the lecture-room of Tyrannus, from eleven to four, was being made aware of the things concerning the Kingdom—the subject of Jesus teaching. But instead of heeding his message, the Jews hardened their hearts, and some of them even spoke evil of the "Way" (used as a synonym for Christianity; read Acts 8:7).

Funds Not Forthcoming

Byrd's Expedition To South Pole Faces Heavy Deficit

New York.—Commander Richard E. Byrd's South Polar expedition faces a deficit of $200,000, the Commander said in a statement to the New York Telegram.

With two ships already on their way, Byrd himself has been forced to resort to collecting the funds subscribed to the project before leaving, he said. Even then, the money has not been forthcoming as expected.

The Telegram quoted Byrd as saying that because of failure of the expedition's backers to furnish the remainder of the needed funds, the Commander has had to desert other promising eleventh hour work to aid in collecting the money.

Byrd's disclosure of the financial state of the project made no answer to a query regarding the purpose and scope of the expedition.

The expedition is purely for the advancement of science and the prestige of the United States," the Commander said.

Winnipeg.—That there was no foundation for the charge made by Bishop Lloyd of Saskatchewan at a Hudson Bay "fish" there had been and is today a deliberate attempt to keep the British out of Canada," was the declaration made by Hon. Robert Forke, minister of immigration, speaking over the long distance telephone from his farm at Pipestone, Minn.

"We are paying, with the help of the British Government and the railways, the passage to their Canadian destination; we are giving them this money so that their start will not be so hard as to many of the difficulties encountered by the earlier pioneers and those who today are coming in from non-British countries."

"We are associating ourselves with every good organization, having the best of the British people at heart, to advance the settlement of British in Canada and we are doing nothing for members of any nationality who are coming into Canada."

 Speaking of dry humor—there's the United States Volunteered law.
 If Mayor Osborne really wants to do something for his country, let him build a disposal plant for the treatment of Calgary sewage.
 If all the Smiths in the United States were to for for "Al" Hoover wouldn't stand much chance of being elected.
 The American presidential election campaign will have to take a back seat while the world series baseball games are being played.
 Premier Rhodes, of Nova Scotia, nearly rode the slow horse at the recent election.
 The Calgary Herald says: "No time should be lost in following Alderman Miss Patterson's suggestion that concerning drastic action be done with regard to improving the taste of Calgary water. It is so highly impregnated with chlorine as to be a most unfit to drink."
 If they had to drink the same water at Bassano after the Calgary sewage has been dumped into it they would have something to kick about.
 The main highway leading west from Bassano was certainly a good one of re-grading, but it is unfortunate the work was not done earlier in the summer. The new grade is now soft and loose, and terribly up by the heavy grain hauling traffic. It will take a good soaking rain and a lot of dragging to put this road in good shape.
GIVE US WATER FIT TO DRINK
 The dumping of raw sewage into the Bow river by the City of Calgary continues to be a menace to the health of the people of Bassano. Here is a city of some 30,000 people whose refuse is daily emptied into the river from which we get our water supply.
 The pollution of the Bow river is distinctly a breach of the Public Health Act, and the responsibility of the sanitary engineer of the province of Alberta, and by the council of the City of Calgary some years ago when the Bassano sewage treatment plant was built with the provincial health authorities at Edmonton with a view to compelling Calgary to build a sewage disposal plant.
 A by-law was approved by the ratepayers of Calgary providing for the building of a disposal plant and the leasing of debentures to finance the project. The plant was never built. The debentures were not even sold. And Calgary sewage still comes down the Bow river to contaminate Bassano's water supply.
 It has been contended that running water purifies itself every seven or eight miles and therefore, during its passage of 100 miles or so from Calgary to Bassano, the water in the Bow river is purified by the time it reaches here, even though it may be contaminated at Calgary. The contention is fallacious. It has been proven by engineers that contaminated water has been carried down a river from one city to another a distance of as much as two hundred miles.
 In the week's issue of The Mail appears a letter which the town council sent to Hon. Geo. Howland, minister of health. The letter gives a clear and concise outline of the situation, going back to the old war days when the city fathers first took up the question with Calgary. The letter requests the minister to have removed the cause of the pollution of Bassano's water supply, and it is hoped the minister will see to it that this is done.
 Calgary has long shirked its legal responsibilities in this matter, and it is high time that the city, complied with the health regulations of the province.
 Bassano people have suffered enough in convenience, annoyance, and exposure to disease germs through the use of water polluted by Calgary sewage. We want pure water, and it's the duty of the provincial health department to see that we get it.
 Young Miss: "Which would you prefer in your future husband—wealth, ability, or appearance?"
 Old Man: "Appearance, my dear; but he's got to appear pretty soon."

MY PRAYER

 Published Every Thursday
 Dear Lord, I do not pray for wealth of gems and gold.
 Just give me strength to carry on.
 That when my work is done, and story told,
 The world can truly say, "A friend is gone."
 Though dark the night, and storms may fill the air,
 And life seems hardly worth the fight,
 I'll work till I am called, from over there.
 And ask that I may hold for Thee a light.
 Lord, give me light, that I may show for Thee.
 Beauty, others pass without a thought.
 So friends with mortal eyes can see
 The world is full of wonders Thou hast wrought.
 I thank Thee Lord, for all these friends of mine,
 Who greet me as a friend they love to know.
 Make these lives brighter, and their hearts to shine.
 So all will miss me when they're called to go.

 "You drive there, eh?"
 "No, I don't make any."
 "Mary refused to marry, then. Didn't you tell her about your rich uncle?"
 "I did."
 "Didn't that make any difference?"
 "Oh, yes; Mary's my aunt now."

The Interesting Story of Three British Immigrants Who Have Met With Success In Canada

Premier King pointed out the other day that there are, in the Canadian Government, three ministers who came to Canada as British immigrants: Mr. Dunning, from England; Mr. Forke, from Scotland; and Mr. Heenan, from Ireland. In a cabinet of eighteen members, three Old Countrymen hold the important portfolios of Railways, Canada, Immigration-Colonization and Labor. And they came to the Dominion without financial backing.

The experiences of Mr. Dunning, Mr. Heenan and Mr. Forke are of interest not only because they represent England, Ireland and Scotland, but because they met their fate upon somewhat different political ladders. Mr. Dunning climbed up by way of his prominence in business and agricultural organizations and by way of agricultural and municipal experience; Mr. Heenan, by way of municipal and industrial experience; Mr. Forke, by way of municipal and industrial experience.

Mr. Forke came to Canada in 1882 at the age of twenty-one, took up land in a remote part of southwest Manitoba, and in five years was interesting himself in municipal affairs. He was twenty years secretary of the Manitoba union of municipalities and was president. But he had been in Canada thirty-nine years and was sixty-one years of age before he was elected to the House of Commons.

The following year he became House leader of the Progressives and in 1920, at the age of sixty-two, became a minister in the King Government.

Among the immigrants who came to Canada in 1802 were Peter Heenan and Charlie Dunning. Heenan was 28; Dunning only 17. Heenan, born in Ireland, but schooled in England, and for a time a professional football player, was working as an engineer and driver for a construction company in Costa Rica, had been attacked by yellow fever and had examined the rival claims of Canada and South Africa as to whether climate. He chose Canada, tried an Alberta ranch, preferred being a locomotive engineer, became an alderman of Kenora and chairman of the Association of the Kenora and District, and in 1917 years after coming to Canada was elected to the Ontario Legislature. Six years later he was elected to the Dominion House from a constituency larger in area than Great Britain. And in 1926, 24 years after his arrival in the Dominion, and at the age of 52, he became Minister of Labor.

Dunning's career was meteoric. He told the House the other day how, at first coming to the Dominion, he worked for the summer on a western farm at ten dollars a month. The next year he failed miserably by working at wages which never exceeded a dollar a day and board (the equivalent of perhaps two dollars), they laid by in a summer and winter, enough money to bring out the mother and five sisters. But at 26, nine years after his arrival, Dunning appears in the picture as vice-president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' general manager of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, and member of the Canadian Council of Agriculture. At 34 years of age he became Provincial Treasurer of Saskatchewan; then Premier of that Province, and in 1920 became, like Heenan, a Minister of the Dominion Government—age only 41.

In these three careers there is a lesson of hope for every immigrant and every intending immigrant. Everyone can hope to be a Cabinet Minister, but all can hope for a greater degree of final comfort and prosperity than they are likely to attain elsewhere.—Toronto Star.

Demand For Canadian Hay
The situation in Germany is such that a fair quantity of imported hay is likely to be wanted if this year's Canadian crop is satisfactory in quality and price, writes Trade Commissioner Harrison, at London, in the forthcoming issue of the Commercial Year for the United Kingdom hay crop was for a year or two below the average, but rather better than last year.

A Monumental Dictionary

Premier Baldwin Pays a Tribute to Men Who Have Helped With Ambition Project

Speaking at the banquet held in Goldsmith's Hall, London, in celebration of the completion of the Oxford Dictionary, Premier Baldwin paid a glowing tribute to the many scholars who have taken part in this monumental work by saying that the English language is the most efficient instrument ever used by the tongue of man, and that the editors and their staff of assistants had produced a work which exhibits the manifold richness of the English tongue and is destined to go down to future generations as the mightiest effort of word compilation ever known in human history. The dictionary, which was first mooted back in 1858, and had its first letter section finished in 1933, contains no less than four hundred thousand words, has in its pages three million quotations, includes nearly two million illustrative definitions and embodies, we are told, 178,178 of type, printed at a total cost of one and a half million dollars.

It is much easier to simply state these amazing facts than to imaginatively grasp their significance. Of the 10,000 men who have, in one way or another, contributed their quota to this stupendous lexicon, many of them have passed into the beyond. We can readily accept gratefully the dictum of Premier Baldwin when he says: "These men have uncovered the origins, resolved their methods, unwrapped and exposed the dummies; they have laid bare in their work the mind of our people and a score of generations. They have made the written word so that it has become a living symbol."

This is strictly true. Dictionaries of some sort have been in the world ever since the lexicon of Apollonius the Sophist appeared in the first century, supplying a glossary for the Iliad and Odyssey. But the first English dictionary, properly so called, made its appearance in the year 1616, three hundred and twenty years ago. It was followed by numerous compilations of different sorts, which found their best example in the bulky folio of Dr. Stephen Skinner, published in 1711, and it was from this volume that Dr. Johnson drew much material for his own famous work, which was eight years in the making and required the assistance of six amanuenses to whom Johnson paid the sum of $7,575, all told. He tells us that he had to collect materials by "fortuitous and unguided excursions into books, out of a boundless chaos of living speech," a sentence which sounds very John-sonian. Yet, in spite of successors of lesser mold and in shoals, no genuine philological dictionary made its appearance until Charles Richardson produced his valuable compilation in 1857. Don Trench made splendid use of this dictionary, the ultimate result being his suggestion that the Philological Society members should sound and dig and lay deep and sure foundations for the dictionary that should include all English words in all centuries, in all meanings, and with a quotation to support each word. But the idea took root. Enthusiastic scholars, such as Herbert Coleridge, Dr. Furnivall, Sir James Murray, and others, rendered invaluable aid by their unrelenting labors to further the project. Sir James Murray really started work there were some five million slips stuffed into pigeon holes for use. The labors of these pioneers have been commemorated by the industry and erudite efforts of men like Dr. Henry Bradley and Dr. W. A. Craigie, with a vast staff of volunteer helpers. To say that the Oxford Dictionary is final would be going too far, for the English language is continually growing and adding new terms which must needs become the current coin of common speech.—Montreal Gazette.

Canada Stands Fifth in Milk Production

United States At Head Of List With 18,000,000 Pounds

The eighteen largest milk producing countries of the world have, according to latest returns, 67,422,743 milk cattle. Of these the United States leads with 22,250,000. Germany is second with 10,064,817, then France, 7,701,816; Great Britain and Ireland 4,265,370, and Canada is fifth with 3,894,311.

The total output of butter is 4,334,851,758 pounds of which Canada makes 272,202,387 pounds and of cheese 2,278,918,895, and of the United States is 174,248,379. This Canada is head of the list in butter making, with Canada sixth, and Germany heads the cheese list with Canada fifth. The per capita consumption of milk in the United States is 5.3 gallons, and in Canada 43.2 gallons.

The Dangerous Fly

One Of Most Prevalent Disease Spreaders Say Doctors

The physicians are beginning again to talk about the fly. They should be so, indeed, to him, he promotes their business. But conscientious physicians are devoting a good deal of time to preventing the spread of disease, and they recognize the fly as one of the most prevalent disease-spreaders of our region. That was an interesting experiment recently reported. They washed a fly and found by count that its body was covered with 1,500,000 bacteria that were not in it before the process. Probably that fly was no filthier than the average run of the members of his family. The conclusion is that all unwashed flies should be kept out of houses by screens, and that all places suspected of breeding flies should be cleaned up.

Poultry House Flooding

Cement Floors Give Trouble On Account Of Dampness

Cement flooring for the poultry house has the merit of durability and it does not harbor vermin, but many poultry keepers complain that it gives trouble in winter and spring on account of being continually damp. At the Charlottetown Experimental Station the cement floor was given a coat of roofing paint but it did not reduce the dampness to any appreciable extent as the litter soon became damp and unfit for use almost as quickly as where the floor was left without treatment. In another house a wooden floor was built and laid in sections two inches above the cement. This treatment, according to Mr. J. A. Clark, the superintendent in his report for 1927, was very effective, the section remaining dry and requiring cleaning only about half as many times as the other portion of the same house that had the cement floor only.

E. P. Ranch Ships Stock South

Important Shipment Of Pure Breeds Stock Gave To California

Another important stock shipment has left the E.P. Ranch for the Kenwood stock farms, Kenwood, California. This is the third shipment made to the famous stock center, and consisted of seven cows, five Shorthorn bulls, and five yearling bulls. Some of these were stock imported from the royal farm in England. James Watson, of the E.P. Ranch, accompanied the bunch as a herdsman, and will look over various prominent stock farms while in California.

Trade Within The Empire Is Being Furthered Through Efforts Of The Empire Marketing Board

The development of trade within the Empire is a matter which, during recent years, has been given the earnest attention of all those countries making up the British Commonwealth of Nations. It is felt that the marketing of intra-Empire trade will open up opportunities for trade relations that will not only serve to bring more closely together the various parts of the Empire, but as well, afford such direction to production and consumption of those commodities for which the various countries concerned are best suited to produce, that the well-being of the whole Empire will be greatly added to. With this object in view, the Imperial Economic Conference, of which Canada is a member, in 1923 appointed the Imperial Economic Committee to study the possibilities for doing something to stimulate marketing within the Empire. As a result of their report and subsequent action, the Empire Marketing Board was created.

The Empire Marketing Board, as constituted is an official non-political body, and the membership is so arranged that, though limited for the efficiency, no part of the Empire is unrepresented, and its chief function is that of advisor to the Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs, in the administration of the £1,000,000 as granted by the Parliament of the United Kingdom. The Imperial Economic Committee and the Empire Marketing Board are closely related, partly because the Empire Marketing Board is charged with the duty of giving effect to the recommendations of the Committee, and partly because certain members of both bodies.

The Committee proposed in the first instance that a very considerable proportion of the grant should be devoted to promoting Empire buying in the United Kingdom, and a minor portion reserved for the assistance of Empire producers, this in the direction of an increase expenditure for the assistance of Empire producers.

The value of consumer publicity early suggested the attention of the Board, and it was with the object of increasing the interest in the matter of Empire trade expansion within, that the Board at the outset made a public publicity campaign, both novel and difficult. The Board recognized the fact that its main function in the field of publicity was to register a protest against such indifference to imperial governments, or countries, or trading interests could throw into relief the claim of those commodities which the British people were interested in. This principle has been permanently adopted. Thus, while the Board may be engaged in general terms at the proper season to participate in varieties of Empire produce, it is not called upon to undertake or subsidize any of the Empire's advertising. The effect has been that the Board has been engaged less in furthering directly, the sale of individual articles of Empire produce, than in creating a consciousness of Empire among the public that might be set to respond more freely to the direct appeals of other advertisers. Already there are evident signs up and down Great Britain of a fresh and growing interest in the possibilities of Empire development and trade, and as well, an obvious preference for Empire products where quality and cost are in proper relation.

Consumer interest in the work of the board is now growing with amazing rapidity. Within recent months, approximately 15,000 schools have applied to the Secretary to be placed on the regular mailing list to receive the Board's posters as often as they are issued. Already 1,140 poster-boards or frames have been erected in different parts of the country, and a further 160 frames are in course of erection. To indicate the interest and value placed in this Empire publicity scheme, we cite the British Electrical and Allied Manufacturers' Association, which has made proposals involving the marketing of sixty advertising frames in their factories, so that the Board's objective may be displayed for the benefit and education of the vast army of industrial workers. Many picture centre panel poster frames now being considered for erection at the chief railway stations in London, so that they may reach the eye and arrest the attention of the millions moving in and out of the largest single consuming centre in the world, the Empire.

The effectiveness of such publicity efforts in promoting Empire trade is quite apparent. Nevertheless, it should be repeated that the whole scheme would be worse than futile if it were the policy of voluntary preference, we would be advertising inferior goods and this we would be doing, if the goods or products on offer from Empire sources are not adequate, both in quality and volume to meet whatever competition they are likely to encounter.

These of us who have been privileged to visit the leading market centres in Great Britain, and those of us who have had to do in a practical way with the sale of Canadian products in the British market, realize how sound is the idea that quality and volume represent the only conditions on which Empire products can be given a private preference in the consuming centres of Great Britain. And further, it is necessary that in the matter of volume, the same standards be insisted upon as in quality. None understands better than Canada, with her long winter months, and her comparatively short growing season, the difficulties encountered in developing uniform product volume. Nevertheless, regularity of volume is essential to obtaining voluntary preference, and we have to face the issue as it stands; and we have successfully overcome greater difficulties than these.

The Empire Marketing Board, as an aid in fostering Empire trade, deserves our full support and with the widest of its scope and its activities from time to time its growing influence on our trade opportunities are becoming more and more apparent. It should give the work of this Board representing the efforts of 18 Imperial Economic Committee on our behalf, the widest of its scope and its activities from time to time its growing influence on our trade opportunities are becoming more and more apparent. It should give the work of this Board representing the efforts of 18 Imperial Economic Committee on our behalf, the widest of its scope and its activities from time to time its growing influence on our trade opportunities are becoming more and more apparent.

The Committee proposed in the first instance that a very considerable proportion of the grant should be devoted to promoting Empire buying in the United Kingdom, and a minor portion reserved for the assistance of Empire producers, this in the direction of an increase expenditure for the assistance of Empire producers.

Poison For Insects

Both Liquid and Dry Applications Are Recommended

Practically all plant insects that live by sucking the leaves of plants are destroyed by poisoning. In his new booklet No. 99, of the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa, "Insects of the Greenhouse and the Field," Mr. Arthur Gibson, the Dominion Entomologist, recommends both liquid and dry applications. When Paris green is used, a mixture of Paris green and half a pound of fresh lime are sufficient for forty gallons of water. Where only small quantities are needed, a teaspoonful of Paris green and half a pound of fresh lime are sufficient for forty gallons of water. Demand For Resper-Threshers
Impulses coming from the United States are creating large quantities of resper-threshers, and indications point to a heavy sale of these this year. It is believed that this type of reaper will be used to a greater extent this year.

WESTERN HOTEL NOW COMPLETE

Still more majestic, standing alone, the Band Springs Hotel, guardian of the Canadian Rockies, is again prepared for the summer rush of tourists and passing travellers. Many alterations have been made in the construction of the hotel while an additional wing has been built. New swimming pools are a still further attraction, both warm and cold baths being built. Altogether there is a splendid and dignified atmosphere surrounding the new Band Springs Hotel, which is rather that of an old-world mansion than of a hotel. The old golf course has been renovated and enlarged from a nine hole to an 18 hole course, under the inspiring shadow of the mountains.

BREWING IS AN IMPORTANT INDUSTRY IN ALBERTA

Few citizens give thought to what the Brewing Industry means to Alberta as an industry, yet it is an important factor in the Industrial life of the Province.

It is not necessary to emphasize the millions of dollars invested in the industry. The point that should not be lost sight of is that there are hundreds of men steadily employed throughout the year in the brewing, storing and transporting of the products of the five great breweries of Alberta.

There is no industry in Alberta that spends more of its total income right in this Province than does the Brewing Industry.

An Ancient Pastime

Game Similar To Squash Played 3,000 Years Ago

Evidence that a game similar to squash was played by natives of Yucatan 2,000 years ago was found by a Tulane University expedition which returned home from an exploring trip through Central America and Mexico.

Dr. Franz Hottel of the department of Middle American Research of Tulane, who headed the expedition, said he found the courts upon which the game had been played by the ancient Mayan tribes. The courts still were in excellent repair, he said, and there could be no mistake about what they were used for.

The game apparently had been played with rubber balls which had been knuckled back and forth across the court with something similar to rackets.

WILL FILL IMPORTANT ROLE

British's First High Commissioner to Canada Should Be Helpful To Both Governments

Sir William Clark, who is arrived in Canada to serve as Britain's first High Commissioner to this country, will fill a very important role and one that, given promise of being valuable to both countries concerned. As Sir William himself has declared, he will serve as an additional channel of communication between the Ottawa and London governments, "two governments," he said, "serving equally the same king and governing actions within one and the same Empire."

British's High Commissioner to this country should be able to offer important advice to the British Government on a number of matters that will inevitably arise. There is, for instance, the question of immigration. The question of British immigration into this country is perhaps the most important one for as the two governments are concerned. The new British High Commissioner, who is a trained observer of all economic questions, should be helpful in solving this difficulty. He will be in a position to advise the British Government as to Canada's power to absorb as to just what type of immigrant this country requires. Indeed he should be in a position to advise with accuracy, and with a full knowledge of all aspects of the situation, both the British and Canadian Governments on this important question. In fact, it is just possible that this new link between the two countries which has been created is just what is necessary to render a problem no longer a problem.

On other matters, too, British's High Commissioner to Canada should be of distinct service. Sir William Clark gives promise of being an ideal man for the post and Canada will welcome him heartily to her shores.

Sailor Aided By Wireless

Injured Man Transferred From Freighters To Hospital On Loner

Value of wireless communication at sea was brought home to at least one sailor of the small freighter, Blarholm, outbound Halifax to Glasgow, when his land was injured badly. A wireless call from the Blarholm conveyed the news that one of the crew needed medical aid. The message was caught by the operator on the White Star liner, Megantic. Captain Kearney immediately turned in to find the freighter. A boat was launched and the stricken sailor was taken aboard the big liner where he was attended by Surgeon Glover, who administered a first aid after which the sailor was carried in the liner's hospital to Southampton.

British Harvesters And Red Cross

In War And Peace The Red Cross Is Still Serving

"Ready for service" is the proud boast of the Red Cross the world over, and in Canada, wars, unseen by the man in the street, the Red Cross is found to be "still serving."

A large party of British harvesters in the west found themselves stranded in the city of Calgary. Their immediate need was shelter for the night and the friendly hand. Cool weather and early frost necessitated the provision of warm bedding for these strangers within the gates.

The Red Cross of Alberta gladly came to the rescue and was able to co-operate with the Salvation Army in the problem of getting the refugees comfortable for the night, by supplying each and all with warm bedding.

A NEW GIANT OF CANADIAN BUSINESS

The Highways Branch of the Department of Railways and Canals has estimated that somewhat over $275,000,000 ($275,000,000) was spent in Canada in 1937 by tourists from abroad. It takes some effort to appreciate the real value of this tourist growing source of wealth. And the building industry is another factor that powerfully influences the activity of Canadian business.

Standing up alongside such items as these, the tourist trade can today claim a chair title to a place among the most important of Canadian business.

Headstones Have Been Provided For Every Grave On Western Front

The headstones for the last grave in the cemeteries on the Western Front, has been shipped to France by the Imperial War Graves Commission. Since the war was first started, by the Commission between 600,000 and 700,000 headstones have been sent to France and Belgium. Most of these have been erected, but still remain in the cemeteries awaiting erection. Although headstones have now been provided for every grave on the Western Front, it is possible that more will be required, as bodies are still being found in the battlefields.

All these stones have been quarried in England by ex-service men and prepared here before being shipped to the Western Front.

Some of the cemeteries have been selected to contain memorials to the missing. All those men who fell during the war, and who have no known graves, will have their names placed on these memorials. Nine memorials to the missing are in the course of construction at the present time, and five have been completed and unveiled. A memorial to members of the Forces who were reported missing in action at the present time, is being erected in the Flanders of Amiens, and at about 35,000 names will be inscribed.

In a statement an official of the Imperial War Graves Commission said that it was hoped that the memorial to the missing, which will contain 3,888 names, and which commemorates the missing at the retreat of Mons, will be ready for unveiling by the end of October. This memorial will also include the names of those who were missing in the battle of the Marne and the Aisne.

Between 11,000 and 22,000 officers and men of the Mercantile Marine who died as the result of enemy action and who have no known graves are to be commemorated on the Western Front. The design by the artist, Walter Lundy, is a great vaulted crater, in whose three bays the names of the 11,000 are being inscribed.

THE TROOP "NEVE"

You know, of course, that a tooth is not solid right through, but is hollowed out in the center to form a chamber, and because of this experience, perhaps, in a short time, you have been made aware that a tooth is hollow.

But you may not thought passably as to whether this chamber contained a mass of nerve tissue. Now, as a matter of fact, it does, and is called "nerve." It is known as the pulp, which tissue is a mass of almost gelatinous character containing minute blood vessels and nerve filaments.

So it is that a glistering string like piece of nerve tissue as you may have supposed.

When the tooth erupts, the pulp chamber is proportionately large, but with the tooth practically fully formed, the need for tissue forming goes away. The pulp is then a mass of pulp supply it cut off more and more with progressive narrowing of the pulp chamber until in advanced life, it is sometimes altogether obliterated.

This accounts for the fact that tooth decay can more quickly do great harm to a child's tooth than in the adult's.

You dread the dental engine, and at the first touch of the "drill" to the tooth, you are sure the dentist is hurting the nerve. The nerve pain produced.

Carrying this sensation is being carried by minute fibrils that lie in the dentinal structure while the tooth is in the process of forming. The nerve pain produced.

Remember this: The power of healing in the pulp is very low and once infected, the chances of its recovery to health are extremely slight.

For which reason you should be on your guard to head off tooth disease in its earlier stages.

Little Journeys

"O'HARA, THE LAKE IN THE CLOUDS" (By L. D. N.)

It is a most difficult thing to write about our own Canadian Rocky Mountains. One has to use too many adjectives and, after all, the English language contains but a comparatively few superlatives. It requires a consummate artist in word painting to do adequate justice to the subject; so many amateurs have tried their laborious efforts at the job that the casual reader usually comes away in disgust when he encounters a half column of somewhat childish panegyric on the subject of the beauties of the Canadian Rockies.

But I must have my little say about Lake O'Hara. You may have seen the beauties of the "vaunted Lake Louise"; the wild grandeur of Moraine Lake and its Valley of the Ten Peaks; the green story of Emerald Lake; the red walls of Snare Canyon; or the towering falls of Takahkewi—but until you have communed with the high gods who make their abode on the mountain peaks around Lake O'Hara you have yet to see a scene that transcends them all.

Incomparable O'Hara is a veritable "Lake in the Clouds." Six thousand feet above sea level, this charming lake is located in the midst of eleven great mountain peaks that form an olympian panorama. The clouds among the great mountains which furnish the setting for this lake are Huden, Victoria, Lefroy and Hungabee. Then there is Yukone, near to the view. Finally, whose glaciers give birth to exquisite Lake McArthur; Scofield, Odegar, which looks across at Cathedral; and the back of which is the white of Mount Stephen's snows.

Lake O'Hara is reached by a seven mile journey from Lake Louise. There is no motor road; so the clarity of the keen mountain air is not decorated by the pungent odor of burning gasoline. The climb can be conveniently made on foot and it is well worth the effort. There are mountains on every side, meadows and streams. I am told that seventy-five varieties of Alpine blossoms grow there. Then the glory of the view when O'Hara first comes into sight gives you a thrill that fairly vibrates. So must have felt the stout Cortes when he stood on a peak in Darien and first gazed on the Pacific.

Sun, cloud, and passing breeze work magic on O'Hara's beauty. It's like skilled fingers drifting over a harp—so softly and sweetly. Now the water shows, varying shades of aquamarine; now a touch of the cerulean; and then comes a jadey green. The barrets of Lefroy tower over the head of the lake and there the seven-angled waterfall tumbles and sings the song of the Seven Sisters. The legend (and of all spots in the world this one is a legend best) tells how ancient dryads and naiads were driven from their accustomed haunts by the intrusion of mankind, and at their own request were turned into the waterfall that gambols madly into Lake O'Hara.

Some day, in the continued march of progress, a motor road will be built to O'Hara's shores and the beauty of the place will be depicted by the heedless shouting and playing of the crowds of motorists. It will be "just another place to see"—although the most sublime of all. The present is the time to see this lovely mountain tarn in all its rugged, wild natural setting, fresh to the world when it was young and the Great Deluge still had left it green. And oh, the sunsets from O'Hara's shores. . . . "Bright-faced Aurora, rosp-fingered Dawn. Standing tiptoe on misty mountain top."
